SECTION II: WORKFORCE AND COMMUNITY LABOR STATISTICS

The utilization chart on the following page summarizes the current Kings County workforce profile and contrasts it with similar data for our community labor workforce. Both gender and ethnicity are cross-referenced against various job group categories.

The purpose of this comparison is to determine if there are areas of under utilization overall as well as within particular job categories. Immediately following the chart is a narrative analysis of the findings as well as a discussion of specific objectives for improvement in specific areas.

Utilization Chart Narrative

Based on an analysis of the utilization chart, there are several areas where the County workforce could be more reflective of the community profile. Specifically, the most impacted area is Hispanic males which are underrepresented in five out of eight job categories. This accounts largely for the 16 percent underrepresentation by minorities in the job categories of Services/Maintenance and Skilled Crafts as well. Minorities are also underrepresented by 7.8 percent in the category of Officials/Executives.

Other categories which require attention are females (white and African-American) in the job category of para-professionals as well as Hispanic females in the category of Services/Maintenance. Additional representation of females in the job category of Professionals should also be encouraged.

In all other categories, minorities and women are well represented and no specific actions are warranted other than a continuation of the County's commitment to equal employment opportunity practices.

Underutilization Goals

The County is committed to creating a workforce at all levels of employment that represents the community it serves. Because Hispanic males are underrepresented in many job categories, it is our goal to increase representation by evaluating our promotional and recruitment practices to ensure this group receives equal opportunity to secure employment. Additionally, the County will expand our community outreach efforts to improve recruitment of qualified candidates in the job categories of Officials/Executives, Protective Services, Office/Clerical, Skilled Crafts, and Services/Maintenance.

A similar targeted effort will be made to attract females (specifically African-Americans) for positions within the Para-professional job category, and Hispanic females in the Services/Maintenance category.

In order to accomplish these goals, the following specific objectives will be pursued.

Underutilization Objectives

There are a number of resources available to Kings County in which to achieve the specific recruitment goals identified above. The County can develop stronger contacts in the community to use as a resource for marketing recruitment efforts. Presentations to appropriate community and professional groups will also provide the County a chance to make a connection with individuals from minority communities and develop referrals and a reputation for outreach.

Action Steps:

- 1) Visit local colleges such as West Hills, College of the Sequoias, Chapman University, and Fresno State University. These instutitions offer courses, degrees and certification programs in many of our impacted job category areas. The County can establish a relationship with these schools to develop areas of mutual interest such as recruitment posting, job fairs/development programs, student internships, etc. Additionally, Lemoore Naval Air Station (LNAS) is located in Kings County and job postings can also be made available to the civilians living there.
- 2) Develop a list of key community and professional associations, churches, and cultural organizations to which recruitment flyers can be sent regularly. The County can cultivate these groups by offering to visit their meetings and provide programs on County employment opportunities and practices. Example of these local organizations serving or representing minority populations include: Kings Partnership, LULAC (United Latin American Citizens), Howard Chapter AME Zion Church (African-American), Primera Iglesia Bautista of Hanford (Hispanic); Hanford Spanish Seventh Day Adventist Church; American University Women (AUW); NetworKings (women's professional association); Hanford Soroptomists.
- 3) Develop and maintain a list of minority media sources for use in targeted job category recruitments such as Radio Rey: KJOP-1240 am, a Hispanic language station; California Advocate, Visalia, which targets African-Americans.
- 4) Review the County's recruitment methods, practices, and policies to promote Equal Employment Opportunity and ensure no artificial barriers exist in areas such as job requirements, written or psychological testing, examination and selection process, etc.
- 5) Market the County's EEO plan and outreach efforts to the local press to assist in communicating with the community (i.e. Hanford Sentinel, Lemoore Advance, Avenal Progress, Corcoran Journal, Visalia Times Delta, and Fresno Bee)

- 6) Monitor performance in achieving goals by reviewing hiring practices on a quarterly basis and provide this information to individual departments. Advise the departments and Board of Supervisors on progress in attaining these goals.
- 7) Provide ongoing training to supervisors and managers on EEO goals, policies, and processes.
- 8) Provide development opportunities for all employees with emphasis on EEO goals for providing opportunities to minorities and women to compete successfully for promotions and retain these individuals through vehicles such as career counseling and mentoring programs. Exit interviews of positions within impacted job categories being vacated by women and minorities may yield useful feedback to improve the County's policies and practices.
